Architectonic Space By Hans Van Der Laan

Architectonic Space is the most complete and coherent treatise on the nature, purpose and meaning of architecture that has so far been attempted. It is the product of its author's lifetime pursuit of an idea that has haunted him from childhood: a search for the archetypal basis of the act of building.

The approach of Van der Laan ' s book Architectonic Space (1977) is different than that of The Plastic Number (1960), which focussed on explaining his proportional system. Here he embedded his ideas about the perception of architecture through counting in a more general atectonic theory about the relationships between inside/outside and mass/space.
