assessment and training. Compounding hazardous drugs (HDs) requires skill in preparation, as well as protection of the compounding personnel. Injectable oncology agents comprise the majority of HDs compounded, but agents for other routes of administration and other conditions are also prepared. Competence for compounding HDs includes written and verbal instruction and review of practices for both sterile and nonsterile compounding. In this eReport, Readers will learn how to do the following:

- Recognize hazardous drugs
- Discuss the precautions required when working with hazardous drugs
- Describe the key elements for cleaning and decontaminating areas used for compounding hazardous drugs
- Discuss the components of a medical surveillance program for those who compound hazardous drugs

Topics covered include:

- Definition of a hazardous drug
- Special precautions related to compounding hazardous drugs
- Facility design
- Aseptic technique
- Personal protective equipment
- Specific work practices
- Medical surveillance program

A self-assessment quiz is included to verify that learning objectives have been met.

-Significantly reduced listprice The official Emergency Response Guidebook (ERG) is a guide for use by transporters, firefighters, police, and other emergency services personnel who may be the first to arrive at the scene of a transportation incident involving a hazardous material. It is used by first responders in (1) quickly identifying the specific or generic classification of the material(s) involved in the incident, and (2) protecting themselves and the general public during this initial response phase of the incident. The ERG is updated every three to four years to accommodate new products and technology."
