adopted a new Guidelines
process for

practice
guideline
development.

Under this new
process APA's
practice
guidelines also
seek to provide better clinical utility and

usability.

Rather than a broad overview of treatment for a disorder, new practice guidelines focus on a set of discrete clinical questions of relevance to an overarching subject area. A

Where To Download
systematic
review of
evidence is conducted to address these clinical
questions and
involves a
detailed assessment of
individual
studies. The quality of the overall body of evidence is also rated and is summarized in the practice guideline. With the new process, recommendations are determined by weighing potential benefits and harms of an intervention in a specific

context. Clear,

concise, and

actionable

recommendation
statements help
clinicians to incorporate
recommendations
into clinical practice, with
the goal of improving
quality of care.

The new practice guideline format is also designed to be more user friendly by dividing information into modules on specific clinical questions. Each module has a consistent organization, which will assist users in finding clinically useful and relevant information quickly and easily. This new edition of the practice guidelines on psychiatric evaluation for adults is the first set of the APA's guidelines developed under the new guideline development process. These guidelines address the following nine topics, in the context of an initial evaluation:

review of

history;
substance use

assessment of
suicide risk;

medical health;
quantitative

involvement of

and

the psychiatric evaluation. Each
guideline

recommends or
suggests topics
to include
during an

Findings from an expert opinion
survey have also been taken into consideration in making recommendations or suggestions. In addition to reviewing the available evidence on psychiatry evaluation, each guideline also provides guidance to these

to enhance

Primary care
medicine is the
new frontier in medicine. Every

This includes

These facets of care work most

technologically

have rocketed
beyond reason or
availability,
occurring in the

exploding
populations and

diminishing
real resources
in many parts of the world, even
in the wealthier
nations.

Simultaneously,
the primary care
disciplines—

have matured
