The Mercury SportJet has a fairly lengthy winterization routine in the service manual. It is very important to change out the pump oil and stator oil. If you live in a cold climate like here in MN, water intrusion in those oils can cause serious damage. It may not occur, and the oil may come out black/purple as the day it went in.

Performance is about what you expect from a deck boat. As noted, the Islandia is powered by a Mercury M2 jet that debuted on the craft a year ago. Available in both a 210-horsepower and a 240-horsepower EFI model, it is based on the Pro-Max 225 outboard, with the 2.5-liter powerhead coupled to a 90-degree gear set.
