This book is based on a simple premise: prime your AFV models in grey; then "pre-shade" them in black followed by four other shades of grey; then apply chipping and weathering in grey too; apply a base color in a highly diluted form. And voila! You have a professional looking kit. That's it. That's all.

I'll set up this Alpine US AFV figure next to this M41. This figure quality is excellent, about to start moving lively. I'm not sure to paint like sample painting, it's almost impossible but I'll do my best. I blew a thin layer of surfacer. After that, it seems heavier weight at this point than the bare plastic before.

A filter is always done with a heavily diluted paint (like a maximum of 5% paint to 95% of thinner). A filter can be applied by brush or airbrush. The application should be uniform over the entire model and "wet" to avoid any brush marks. I used a large round brush to apply a single filter to the entire model.

The AK Learning Series continues to grow. In the second edition of the AK Learning Series we take a close look at Panzer Crew Figure Painting. This book is filled with articles, full color photographs and extensive step by step guides to make painting your figures a less intimidating task. We show you how to achieve realistically painted figures ranging from the classic black panzer uniforms to the more complicated camouflage patterned clothing. The reader is given multiple examples of how to paint heads/faces. This book offers extended text explaining the different techniques and styles of painting your German figures from WWII. Also included is a historical introduction, a military ranks chart, and a photo gallery for you to use as references.

The initial welcoming, critics and comments received about this magazine have been a lot more positive than we had ever expected. This makes us keep pushing to maintain and improve the quality and contents of this already reference magazine. This is an unconventional and collectable quarterly magazine with more than 100 pages and a must-have for AFV modellers. With wider content than any other magazine, it is dedicated in this issue to represent dust and grime and also packed with different techniques, tricks, interviews and galleries.

The seventh issue of Tanker Techniques Magazine, the best modelling magazine focused on painting and weathering techniques. Urban warfare has left its print on the development of new tanks and armoured vehicles. This issue of Tanker is dedicated to creating such an environment for your model. We show how to make a street scene, destroyed and bombed out buildings, etc. This time the focus is more on how to present your model in such environments rather than on the vehicles themselves. Creating such scenes requires some planning and thinking, but it's not as hard as it seems. Already here the last issue of Tanker, this time focus in conflicts in villages and cities. In this issue we can feel the battle and the sensations of decadence in cities destroyed by the war. We will see how to recreate these environments, buildings and vehicles.
